Meet Travel Ubanologist Max Grinnell

Our monthly travel series continues on Tuesday, March 29 at 6:30 with the "charming" and "engaging" Max Grinnell, urbanologist, geographer & historian, who was raised in Seattle and Madison, Wisconsin. Max's most recent book, 24 Great Walks In Chicago, was published by Frommer's in 2009. Get the most out of your urban travel with tips from Max. Accompanying writing contest with prizes, see the DPL website for details. Writing entries due March 22.

Stuffed Animal Sleepover

Back By Popular Demand

"Stuffed animals come to the library to sleep, but I don't think they do much sleeping."

-children's librarian Jane Oliver-Purton

Children and their stuffed animals are welcome from 5-6 p.m. Friday, March 25 for a story and a snack. Then, the stuffed animals are invited to stay overnight. Young owners can return the following Saturday morning from 10 to 11 for a craft and collect their animal friends. What exactly do stuffed animals do in the library when it's closed? Please call the library to register and you will soon find out.

Read To Drake Still Going Strong

Students in grades 1-5 are invited to read to Drake, a certified therapy dog, every other Saturday from 1-3 p.m. through May. Children are able to relax and read at their own pace. To reserve your 20-minute time slot, call the library at 646-6230.
